The attorney for four Alabama Department of Mental Health employees who were terminated from W.D. Partlow Developmental Center but sued to get their jobs back said they are scheduled to return to work in Tuscaloosa today.

According to the Tuscaloosa News, attorney Joel Sogol said Thursday that three of the four have accepted jobs at the Mary Starke Harper Geriatric Psychiatry Center or the Taylor Hardin Secure Medical Facility.

Sogol said one of the four, Cecil Gordon, plans to retire soon and a fifth employee who was also involved in the suit has already retired.
